SERVING YOUR CROP INSURANCE NEEDS

"This document is published by American Farm Bureau Insurance Services, Inc. and is intended for informational purposes only. Nothing contained herein can be or should be interpreted to take precedence over policy language, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation/Risk Management Agency Regulation, and Underwriting or Loss Adjustment rules."

Buying a crop insurance policy is only one risk management option.

Producers should always carefully consider how a policy will work in conjunction with their other risk management strategies to ensure the best possible outcome each crop year.

Your Farm Bureau® crop insurance agent can assist you in developing a good management plan for your farming operation.

These policies use a county index as the basis for determining a loss.

GRP

When the county yield for the insured crop, as determined by the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS), falls below the trigger level chosen by the farmer, an indemnity is paid.

Payments are not based on the individual farmer's loss records.

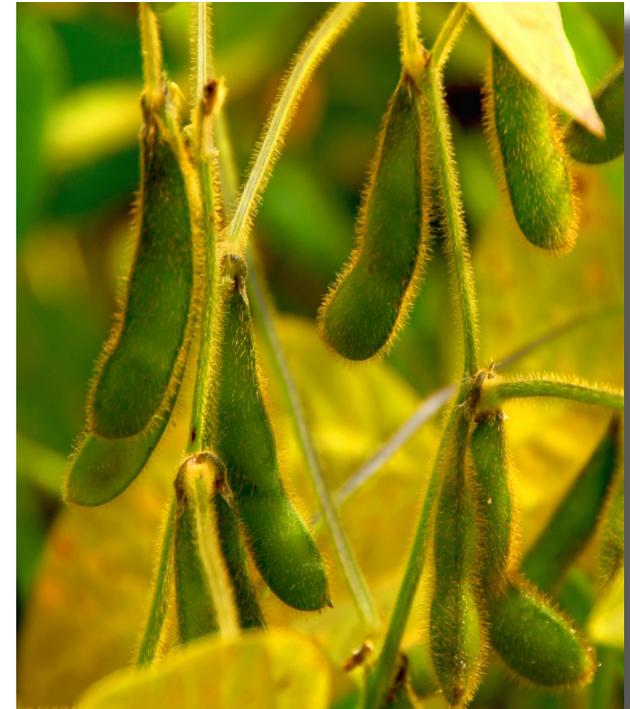

Yield levels are available for up to 90 percent of the expected county yield.

GRP protection involves less paperwork and costs less than the farm-level coverage provided by other plans.

However, individual crop losses may not be covered if the county yield does not suffer a similar level of loss. This insurance is most often selected by farmers whose crop losses typically follow the county pattern.

GRIP

The GRIP plan of insurance provides protection against an unexpected decline in revenues, whether due to low yields, low prices, or some combination. GRIP combines the group, or county average, yield coverage of the Group Risk Plan (GRP) with commodity exchange-based price coverage similar to the Revenue Protection (RP) and Yield Protection (YP) policies.
